Prediction geometry already differs before compression; broad footprints do not guarantee correct depth
State projection is a diagnostic of the existing interface, not its learned final depth prediction